

Supporting the Fight Against Human Trafficking and Internet Crimes Against Children

As telecommunications providers, we do not directly engage in law enforcement or the fight against human trafficking and internet crimes against children. However, as providers of broadband services with technicians working in people's homes, we have a unique opportunity to observe potential indicators of these harmful activities. While we are not responsible for investigating or intervening in these matters, the information we may encounter could be critical in supporting law enforcement efforts to combat these heinous crimes. Our companies are committed to reporting any suspicious activity to law enforcement.

Below are valuable resources to help you recognize red flags and understand how you can contribute to these vital efforts. By staying informed and vigilant, we can all play a small but important role in protecting vulnerable individuals and supporting the broader fight against these crimes.

Wyoming Division of Criminal Investigation
Internet Crimes Against Children
307-777-7181

Department of Homeland Security Blue Campaign
<https://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign>
To report suspected human trafficking to Federal law enforcement dial: 866-347-2423

National Human Trafficking Hotline
1-888-373-7888
<https://humantraffickinghotline.org/en/statistics/wyoming>

Operation IFAST
<https://guardiangroup.org/operation-ifast/>
<https://www.ntca.org/member-services/ifast>

Project 1591
<https://www.project1591.us/>